

Are We There Yet?

Katy Holland

THE TERM "family holiday" is a bit of a misnomer. Can you really call it a holiday if you're running round after your little treasures all day? Which is why I want to go to one of those places where you get properly looked after, whatever your age. I'm talking kids' clubs and spa treatments and family time on a Greek beach.

New for this season is the Grecotel Cape Sounio near Athens, which overlooks the ancient Temple of Poseidon. The kids' club focuses on helping youngsters to learn about the natural world, and its activities include rock pooling and underwater photography. Meanwhile, you can relax in the Elixir Spa. Now that's what I call a proper holiday.
